

DEVILS EDGE JOHNSON CENTRAL FOR THIRD STRAIGHT VICTORY

Will Meet Tough
Paintsville Team
Away Friday Night

The Morgan High Blue Devils eked out their third straight football victory Friday night, defeating a young, but tough Johnson Central squad, 12-6, on a rain-soaked field at Paintsville.

Coach Marty Joyce's Blue Devils, who have improved with every game, now own a 3-2 record after losing their first two encounters—to Raceland and Fairview—and then cowning in succession Nicholas County, Catlettsburg, and Johnson Central.

In Friday's contest, Morgan's TD's—both by quarterback Edsel Cline—came back-to-back in the third period after Johnson Central had scored a TD earlier in the quarter.

The first Devil score came after end Jeffrey Brown recovered a Johnson Central fumble on the Golden Eagles' own 20-yard line. After assuming control, fullback Mike Litteral ground out a first down to the Johnson Central 8-yard line in two plays, and on the next play, Cline scored through the middle on a keeper to even the score at 6-0. The attempt to run for extra points failed.

Then on the kickoff, Donnie Helton booted a beautiful kick that rolled almost into the Johnson Central end zone; a Blue Devil player pounced on the rolling ball, and Morgan regained possession on the Johnson Central 3-yard line. On the first down from scrimmage, halfback Terry Risner plunged into the end zone, but an illegal procedure penalty against the Devils annulled the score and the Devils were penalized five yards. Cline then carried back to the 3-yard line on the next play, and on the next down scored on a sneak play, making the score 12-6. The Devils' extra point attempt again failed.

Johnson Central's score came early in the third period on a spectacular 95-yard run by halfback Cecil Adams.

The Golden Eagles threatened again late in the third quarter, driving 66 yards in nine plays to the Blue Devil 9-yard line, but the Devil defensive line stiffened, forcing the Johnson lads to give up the ball on downs.

Shining on defense during this series of downs were tackle Gary Dye, safety Wendell Fraley, center Robert Helton, guard Charles Mullins, and end Jeffrey Brown.

The Blue Devils will be on their mettle this Friday night as they return to Paintsville to take on the highly-touted Paintsville Tigers. The Tigers blasted Catlettsburg, 39-0, Friday night to bring their record to 3-1. The Blue Devils return home Friday, Oct. 9 to meet powerful Rowan County High.

MURPHY, WEBB TOPS IN WEEKEND GOLF TOURNEY

Bernard Murphy and Wayne Webb of West Liberty have emerged as the players to beat at the Pleasant Valley Country Club Golf Course. Webb and Murphy placed first and second, respectively, in last month's first club tournament, and last Sunday Murphy won the special 18-hole "two-club" tournament held at the course on lower Caney Creek, with Webb coming in second.

Murphy shot an 86; Webb an 87.

In a "two-club" tournament, players are permitted to use only two golf clubs during the play. Players in last weekend's match were given the option of changing one club after nine holes of play.

Three others who placed in the money in last weekend's match also have established themselves in the top echelon of local golfers. They are Mike Blanton, Marling Potter, and Ray Mitchell.

Blanton, who ranked third in the "two-club" match, also ranked high in the first club tournament last month. Potter and Mitchell, who tied for fourth place in last week's competition, placed third and fourth, respectively, in the club tournament last month.

Eighteen club members, playing in five flights, braved chilly blustery weather to participate in the tournament Sunday.

The country club's tournament committee was somewhat disappointed in the lack of interest shown in last Sunday's play, but attributed it to the cold weather. According to a committee spokesman, at least one more tournament is planned for clubmembers for this year. Details will be announced later.

TWO OF STATE'S TOP AMATEURS WILL PLAY GOLF HERE SUNDAY

Public Is Invited
To Spend Afternoon
At Country Club

Two of Kentucky's top amateur golfers will visit Pleasant Valley Country Club Sunday to try out the club's beautiful, new nine-hole golf course.

Here to play the course for the first time will be Buddy Mahan of Winchester and Alton McPherson of Lexington, both top-flight amateurs. McPherson has won the Lexington City Tournament three years in a row and at one time or another, both McPherson and Mahan have won nearly every city tournament in the state.

The country club is extending an invitation to everyone—members and non-members alike—to spend the afternoon at the club and see these two top-flight golfers.

Mahan and McPherson will tee off for nine holes alone at 1 p.m. and later each will compete in separate flights with top golfers from the local club. The names of six local golfers who will take part in the play have not been announced, but almost certain to be included will be Wayne Webb, winner of the recent club tournament, and Bernard Murphy, runnerup. Others who are likely to compete are Ray Mitchell and Marling Potter.

Greenskeeper Larry Lewis reports that the course at the Pleasant Valley Club is in the best shape it's been in since the club opened last spring, and the competition should be keen. This, plus the panorama of fall colors just beginning to show on the rolling hills surrounding the course promises to provide visitors with a pleasant afternoon.

ATTENDING MSU IS FAMILY AFFAIR FOR FIVE IN MORGAN COUNTY FAMILY

MOREHEAD, Ky. — Edwin R. Benton of Caney, Morgan County, may qualify as the most loyal alumnus of Morehead State University.

The Morgan County High School math teacher is a graduate student at MSU and has his wife, two sons and a daughter also enrolled. Also, another daughter is returning to the campus next semester to make it a half-dozen Bentions on the books.

Besides the senior Benton, who has a bachelor's and master's from Morehead State, there is his wife, Mrs. Hilda Benton, sons Phil, 19, and Joe, 18, and daughter Joyce, 21. Lois, 20, now married, is taking a semester off. She, like Joyce, is a senior.

Phil is a sophomore majoring in elementary education. Joe, a freshman who rooms with his brother, is studying political science. Joyce is a sociology major.

Mom and dad Benton commute to MSU for night classes but the others are full-time campus residents. Each child chose Morehead State University because of "dad's sales pitch," according to Phillip. We all had a chance to go elsewhere but dad sold us on the idea of coming to MSU. He's a real recruiter."

The Benton offspring hold part-time jobs to help mom and dad foot the bills for a family in college. Phil and Joe also raise tobacco on the family farm during the summer to supplement the college fund.

Mr. Benton commutes on Monday nights usually sees Phil who has a class in the same building. Mrs. Benton comes on Tuesday nights and Joyce likes to visit with her.

"We've always been a close family so one of us makes it a point to see mom and dad when they come to school," Phil added. "They like to know we're all okay."

Does having an entire family at the same college pose any problems?

"None that I notice," says Phil. "We never have to argue about which school to root for in sports."

TAX SUPERVISORS FINISH SESSIONS. REPORT TO STATE

The County Board of Tax Supervisors concluded its session here Tuesday after hearing appeals from 28 property owners, and their adjustments have been forwarded to the State Department of Revenue as amendments to County Tax Commissioner Harry Coffey's second recapitulation of assessments for 1970.

The board allowed reductions on 26 pieces of property of the 28 who filed appeals, and the reductions totaled $71,900.

Members of the board were Cromwell Wright, Avery Caskie, and Newton Cox.

The board's sessions were late due to discussions between Tax Commissioner Coffey and the State Department of Revenue over the State Department's refusal to approve the county's first recapitulation on the grounds it failed to reflect normal increases in valuations. The matter finally was settled by adding a blanket raise on real estate averaging nearly 20%.

Two additional steps are necessary before the 1970 tax bills can be made out—

State Department of Revenue approval of the revised recapitulation of assessments.

Fiscal Court must meet and set the local tax rates so as to offset the increase in assessments.

ASCS COMMITTEE IS RE-ELECTED; HAMILTON NAMED AS CHAIRMAN

19 Community
Delegates Take Part In Voting

Nineteen of the 21 community delegates attended the Morgan County ASCS convention in West Liberty last Friday and re-elected the three county committee members and then named a chairman and vice-chairman.

Under a staggered system, Ralph Hamilton of Dingus re-elected this year as a member of the county committee but was re-elected for a three-year term by the community delegates. Others re-elected on the county committee were Ben Cox of Pomphrey and Arthur Gibson of Caney.

Mr. Hamilton was selected to be chairman of the county committee. Mr. Gibson as vice-chairman, and Mr. Cox as regular member.

Hamilton will assume his duties Thursday as chairman, succeeding Mr. Cox, who has served as chairman the past few years.

Re-elected for one-year terms as first and second alternates on the county committee were O. P. McKenzie of West Liberty and Lonza Hutchinson of Crockett.

The 21 community delegates had been elected by mail balloting a few weeks ago, three from each of the county's seven communities. They were the community chairman, vice chairman and regular members.

Chairman Ben Cox points out that the ASCS county and community farmer-committees are in charge of local administration of such national farm programs as the Agriculture Conservation Program, the Cropland Adjustment Program, the feed grain program, the wheat program, acreage allotments and marketing quotas, the national wool program, the commodity price-support loans, and storage facility loans.

STATEMENT TO THE VOTERS

I am a candidate in the School Board race in Wards 1, 2, and 4.

This school board race is a critical issue for every Morgan Countian. You, the voter, must decide. Do you want to go on as we have been for the past several years? As a candidate, as a parent, as a taxpayer and interested citizen, I sincerely believe that we must have a change.

The school board makes the difference of good schools and poor schools. I know that I can work with the other board members and I am not asking for a third term, I am asking for one chance to help our children. I will attend the meetings and speak up for our children and put the child before all other issues. I will try to see each voter before the election.

I ask for your vote and trust for one term and one chance to help our youth.

The Morgan County High School PTA will meet tonight (Thursday) at 7:30 p.m. at the high school. All parents are urged to be present.

First Probably Will Be In Lawrence Co., Second In Morgan

Monitor Petroleum Corporation, which struck a big gas producer in its deep-test well in eastern Elliott County, will commence another deep well by mid-October — this one in western Lawrence County on the 11,400 acres of leases the company picked up since coming to Elliott.

Also, Monitor is planning another deep-test on a farm-out arrangement with Ashland Oil, Pennzoil and Sun in eastern Morgan County—probably near Dingus.

But the Lawrence well probably started first, according to Bink Strickland, division engineer for Monitor.

Anyway, the big gas strike in Elliott has generated interest that definitely is leading to additional drilling to tap production in the deeper structures of the area. Observers predict the four companies that joined in sinking the Elliott deep-test will each commence drilling on their individual leaseholds, and that other companies will enter the area and drill for the deep pay.

Rumors are heard that both Ashland and Pennzoil plan deep wells near the Elliott well. Ashland a few miles southwest and Pennzoil a few miles to the northeast.

The Elliott deep-test was drilled to a depth of 9,600 feet on the Cecil Isom farm at the mouth of Isom Creek on Little Fork at Stevens. Monitor drilled the test well on a farm-out agreement with Ashland, Pennzoil and Sun.

Monitor had Halliburton Co. fracture five "pays." The lowest at 7,000 feet and the highest at 4,600 feet. Oil was hit in the deep pay and a big flow of gas in the St. Peter at the upper level.

Strickland said last week the 7,900 foot "pay" was producing about 100 barrels of oil a day and the St. Peter was producing about 50 million cubic feet of gas. Baker Oil Tools of West Virginia was called in to make the tests.

Strickland said this week Baker had concluded its work. But that accurate tests cannot yet be made because water from the five "frack" jobs is still being bled out of the hole.

Tubing was run to the oil "pay" at 7,900 feet, and oil flowed for some days into tanker set up near the well. However the lower "pay" has been shut in now, and most attention is being given to the big gas flow from the St. Peter at 4,600 feet.

There is a growing shortage of all fossil fuels, particularly gas and coal, and gas is a very valuable asset right now. However, another producing well will probably have to be drilled before a pipeline company agrees to build a line to the field.

Officials of Monitor, Ashland, Pennzoil and Sun met in Astland Monday to negotiate further joint drilling operations and arrange for sales of the production.

It was after the Ashland meeting that Monitor's officials announced they would commence drilling in Lawrence County by mid-September.

Meanwhile, planning is still in progress for the Dingus deep-test in Morgan.

WOODROW BARBER DISCUSSES WAYS TO COMBAT POLLUTION AT CIRCLE

Woodrow Barber, biology professor at Morehead State University and former resident of West Liberty, was guest speaker at the Sept. 15 meeting of the G. C. Banks Circle held at the home of Mrs. Lynn Nickell.

Mr. Barber's very interesting topic was "Pollution." He compared the human race to astronauts on the spaceship "Earth" headed for an unknown destiny.

"Man is the only animal that fouls its own nest," said Mr. Barber, "and pollution is like a disease, with man being the carrier."

"Waste stuffing" or the desire for the dollar, especially by industry, is chiefly to blame for much pollution, he said.

"Recycling of products wastes is one of the most important things that must be done to stop pollution and clean up the environment, but we, as individuals," he said, "must be willing to do our part, too." Individuals can help in the fight against pollution, he said, by giving up some of their conveniences. Don't buy products in plastic containers, he suggested. Use low phosphate detergents, cut down on packing and repackaging, and be willing to pay in dollars either as a consumer or in an increase in taxes.

Mrs. Peggy Rose, president, opened the meeting with the CWF prayer. Mrs. Lynn Bliffen's cube was in charge of the devotional and program. Mrs. Linda Smith read Psalm 1 and a selection from "Secret Place," and Mrs. Sally May introduced Mr. Barber.

Following Mr. Barber's talk, each member present received "Guidelines for Citizens' Action on Environmental Problems."

Circle members also voted to participate in the local cleanup campaign soon to be launched in West Liberty and Morgan County.

Refreshments of chess pie and drinks were served by Ruth Conover's cube to Melda Pelfrey, Olive Burton, Letha Nell Nickell, Thelma McGuire, Sally Hay, Helen Caskey, Linda Smith, Gertrude Nickell, Peggy Rose, Charlene Spencer, Floris Cox, Ruby Hill, Mary K. Elam, Ethel Marie Phillips, Ruth Conover, and guests Mae Fannin Craft and Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Barber.

MEDITATION

SOME PRACTICAL PHILOSOPHY IN NEW BOOK

Unity's Ernest C. Wilson, beloved author of Truth books and nationally-known spiritual philosopher, has just had published another book in Truth, "The Emerging Self."

Some salient pointers from the book are worth noting—

MAN—"(Man) has indeed conquered the so-called 'lower' creations of the world around him, while yet needing to understand and master the world within himself. Then shall he become manifestly 'the last for which the first was made'—the Christ man!"

CAUSE AND EFFECT—"Every man creates his own world, says the author. It may be a heaven or hell, and he may dwell an angel or a devil therein. What should be most important to the individual "is not so much the circumstances of life as your attitude toward them."

PROSPERITY—"There are three fundamentals to the manifestation of prosperity: (1) give; (2) receive; and (3) share and conserve."

HUMAN RELATIONS—"Three factors should be predominant in our dealings with others: (1) praise—the power of praise can scarcely be overrated; (2) do not pass judgement; (3) become involved."

COAL TRUCKING TO BE BIG PROBLEM IN MOUNTAINS

County officials in the mountains, when asked to pass on overweight coal trucks, might do well to ponder how hard it was for the mountain counties to get paved roads; and if the roads are destroyed by huge coal trucks weighing from 75,000 to 104,000 pounds, how long might our people have to do without them before they are rebuilt.

Too, coal has more than doubled in value in two years, and its production is reaping great profits. But once our coal is taken from the land, this wealth will be gone—forever.

With huge profits, it can be hauled in smaller trucks, thus spreading out the transportation money among more truck owners. And smaller trucks might not destroy the roads like the giants that now are ruining many hill roads.

LAST BIT OF WEALTH IN MOUNTAINS BEING DISSIPATED

Appalachia, though rated the poorest region in the nation, has untold wealth potential underground in the form of coal and oil and gas.

However, most of this untapped wealth is owned by giant corporations with headquarters in the north and east, which in years past bought up the land (or minerals) for a fraction of its worth.

Now with prices of fuels soaring to new highs, these giants have commenced to tap their wealth in Appalachia.

And if Appalachia's people are poor now, they will be much poorer after the region's underground wealth is removed by the eastern corporations—removed without paying taxes to the region.

The wealth of the Mountains is in its coal, oil, gas and timber, like the Bluegrass region's wealth is in its limestone soil. What if giant eastern corporations were to commence removing the limestone from the Bluegrass. There would be a cry to high heaven.

To save our last bit of natural wealth in the Mountains, or at least to receive some pay for it, the region should unite in seeking a severance tax on coal.

With a severance tax on coal, say 50¢ per ton, the region could have modern highways, modern buildings, proper flood protection, and factory sites. Why not a special session of the legislature to enact such a tax—and soon, before the mountains are raped by giant bulldozers and 100,000 pound trucks?

OBSERVATIONS AND PREDICTIONS

NEW BOOK ON APPALACHIA—Frazier B. Adams, professor at Lees Junior College in Jackson County, is author of a new book on the mountains, "Appalachia Revisited." The 126-page book relates his personal experience in hill counties after the turn of the 20th century, and it may aid in the newer generation better understanding the cultural heritage handed down from the earlier settlers of Appalachia. Dr. Frazier recounts in prose and pictures fun and hardship of mountain life in the early 1900's, and presents it in a way to inspire the mountaineer's pride in his heritage rather than shame as felt by many who deplore the taint of "hillbilly" as so often ridiculed in song and story. Though born in Letcher, Mr. Frazier's mother Larrena Roark was born on Quicksand in Breathitt. Her father was a Jackson attorney and her mother, Nancy Bach, is one of the clan that traces ancestry back to the famed German composer, Johann Sebastian Bach. Some of the chapter headings—Midwives or Granny Women, House and Barn Raisings, The Country Store, Corn Huskings, Bean-Stringings, Quilting Bees, The Blacksmith Shop, The Bull Tongue Plow, The Seven Year Itch, Gathering Pawpaws, Catnip and Sassafras Tea, Making Lye Soap, and many others. At least one old mountain tale—of Three Witches—is set, to verse by his wife, Carrie Walter Adams.

INCREASES—Increased postage rates and mounting production costs have caused most newspapers to increase their mail subscription rates. We cite a few daily papers that have upped their rates—Washington Post from $40 to $46 a year; New York Times from $56.10 to $75; New York Post from $38 to $44; New York News from $32 to $49; Christian Science Monitor from $26 to $30, and Boston Herald Traveler from $50.50 to $72.75.

COUTIER IN EVERY HOME?—No, The Courier does not go to every home. But our press run now is 3,700, biggest in history. There are 2,892 homes in Morgan, and The Courier's paid circulation is 3,641. But some of them go to Ohio and other states, some to soldiers over seas. Nevertheless, The Courier has the highest net paid circulation per 100 residents of any paper in Eastern Kentucky, much higher than the next nearest publication. The reason—The Courier carries more columns of local news than any other countyseat paper.

PRICES OF COAL DOUBLES—With fissile fuels becoming scarce, price of coal has more than doubled in the past year—and in some instances tripled. Coal that was selling for $4.50 at the mine is now bringing $9 up to $13 a ton. And prospectors are wheeling and dealing to lease coal lands for strip mining. Landowners will do well to take note of the value of underground seams of coal and refuse to lease it at the old "going rate". Coal now is worth from 25¢ to 50¢ a ton to landowners. They should never consider the old "going rate" of 5¢ a ton. Also, they would do well to take note if strip-mining their coal will damage nearby productive land, or poison streams that originate near the site of the strip mining operation. "Gob" from coal operations produces sulfuric acid after being exposed to the air, and this is a rank poisoning to all growing things, trees, crops, and living animals.

WORDS OF WISDOM—The best things are nearest: breath in your nostrils, light in your eyes, flowers at your feet, duties at your hand, the path of God just before you. Then do not grasp at the stars, but do life's plain, common work as it comes, certain that daily duties and daily bread are the sweetest things of life. —Robert Louis Stevenson.

UNFAIR PRACTICE—State Insurance Department held a hearing Sept. 30 for Executive Insurers, Inc. of Columbus, Ohio to show cause why its authority to write insurance in Kentucky should not be revoked after charges were filed against the insurance firm that it refused to write a professional liability policy for a teacher unless he agreed to join the Kentucky Education Association.

BUSINESS HERE AND HEREABOUTS

BACTERIA IN CANDY—Warner-Lambert's Williamson Candy division last week recalled all OH Henry candy bars from retailers after manufacturers found some lots were contaminated with the bacteria salmonella which can cause intestinal upsets and diarrhea and which could be serious for infants and the elderly and infirm. The company said it had removed OH Henry from sale to eliminate any possibility of this happening. A company spokesman said it wasn't known how many OH Henry bars were involved.

SCHOOLS—Mrs. Ruth Reeves, president, and J. M. Dodson, executive secretary of the Kentucky Education Association, have asked Gov. Nunn to include "improved financing for public education" in his expected call for a special session of the General Assembly. Gov. Nunn announced last July, shortly after preliminary 1970 federal census figures were released, that he would call a special session to consider re-districting counties into new House and Senate districts.

L & N GETS MONON RY—The L & N's take-over of the Monon Railroad was approved by the ICC. The Louisville & Nashville will exchange one new convertible preferred share for each of the Monon's 772,467 common shares. The merger will give the L&N a Louisville-Chicago link.

KENTUCKY has passed the $1 billion mark in capital investment by new or expanded industries during the two years and eight months of his administration, Gov. Louie B. Nunn said at his weekly news conference for the Kentucky Press Association and the Kentucky Broadcasting Association. He said industry likes Kentucky's "fair, equitable, broad-based tax program," and the fact that "various movements toward discriminatory selective taxation have been successfully repudiated thus far".

MANCHESTER firm, Becknell-Grace Co., Inc., has asked Nashville District Corps of Engineers approval of a new coal loading terminal at Groses Creek on the Cumberland River near Albany. The company proposes a terminal with a 100-ton storage hopper, chute, conveyor belt and floating dock, plans enclosures on chutes to barges to prevent coal dust spillage and pollution.

EUGENE GOSS, former highway commissioner, has withdrawn from the Republican race for governor. Two weeks ago, Perkins Commissioner James Hest announced he would not make the race. Leading Republican contenders now are Tom Emberton, a member of the Public Service Commission and Robert Gable.

TO BUILD ATOMIC GENERATOR—Pennsylvania Power & Light Co. last week announced it would build its first nuclear power plant near Berwick, Pa. on the Susquehanna River at a cost over $500 million. The plant will be STUES TO HALT TAX JUMP—Pulaski county tax assessment boost has brought more than a thousand protests and possibility of a lawsuit. State Revenue Department last June called for a $44 million increase in the county's real estate assessments. Assessments were raised a total of $55 million and the protests followed where books were opened for inspection. The Pulaski Board of Supervisors has begun hearing appeals, with the help of a second panel appointed by County Judge. A taxpayers' committee is considering possible courses of action, including consideration of a suit to seek an injunction against the increase in assessments.

THE WALL STREET JOURNAL notes that "General Motors' Prices were raised an average of $208, or 6.2%, on its 1971 models. The increase, one of the industry's largest ever, appeared to top Ford Motor's 5% boost. GM, like Ford, also hinted it might raise the prices further after the GM strike ends. Although most GM models go on sale starting next week, large quantities won't be available until the strike ends."

KENTUCKY POWER COMPANY's income rose from $26.7 million the previous year to $29.7 for the year ending June 1, but net income was down from $8.77 million to $6.44 million for the same period.

Of the 70 law reviews published by the nation's law schools, the Kentucky Law Journal, published by the University of Kentucky's College of Law, is the tenth oldest.

The highest named number is the centillion which is followed by 600 zeros.

HOLIDAY— PHONE SERVICE, OIL AND COAL MAKING NEWS

By Harrison Holliday

Sept. 26—Cannel coal, known as anthracite, is being hauled in trucks past where Holliday Post Office used to be located almost daily. It must be mined in the Piedmont section, where in about the year 1912 the mines were in full blast and a train came from Cannel City to pick up the coal which was considered to be the best in the country. The town people all moved elsewhere after the mines closed. Robert Honsel is the only person living in this section. I have been informed that this coal that is being trucked is going to a railroad station where it will be sent to a market in New York City. This kind of coal is not used now in this section as stoker coal is being used to operate stoker stoves.

My phone has been out so much in the past few weeks that I am almost ashamed to call the office for to come and fix it. It seems that after thunder storms that it happens most. Some time I think a receiver is off but knowing the other people that are on my line, I don't think anyone would leave one off on purpose. Some of the phones may not cut off if the receiver is not hung up correctly.

Curtis Lykins, who works at Dayton but owns a farm here, came in last week. He found his corn crop hit by the light the worst that I have ever seen in this section. Farming is not so certain any more.

Mrs. Roy Ross and daughter Mary Mae of Insko were visiting in Ohio over the weekend. Her son, Wm. Lloyd Ross of Reading, Ohio took them to visit the State Fair at Columbus. They returned home this week by bus.

My wife, Myrtle, and I attended the opening of Bailey's Foodtown near Index. We found the Baileys and all the clerks very friendly. Prices were OK and I believe they will have a good business. Friendliness is the first asset to a good store. So many farmers now have come to the idea if their game is to be preserved that they must keep hunters from other sections out. About all farmers in this section have no hunting or trespassing signs on their premises somewhere.

Victoria Adams, who has been in the hospital, is back home and was able to visit her mother, Sally Lacy, a few days ago.

I have been informed, but not officially, that some oil company plans to drill a hole near the residence of Charley Holliday at the mouth of Barker Branch at White Oak.

Kenny Ross and his wife, who were recently married, are moving to Maytown. We are pleased to have them in our community.

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Linkous and Keith were visiting Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Evans and family Saturday night.

LAW

Let reverence for the law be breathed by every mother to the lisping babe that prattles on her lap; let it be taught in the schools, seminaries and colleges; let it be written in primers, spelling books and almanacs; let it be preached from the pulpits and proclaimed in legislative halls and enforced in courts of justice. — Abraham Lincoln.
